Give Me Scripture, is a fun and interesting Bible meditation game that encourages players to focus on the Bible while enjoying themselves. All the images are AI-generated. the AI mages appear on the front of the card, and a few passages from the Bible that are related to the image are on the back. "Give Me Scripture" serves a dual purpose:

Whether you're playing with friends, family, or on your own, this game encourages you to connect visual cues with powerful verses from the Bible.

Setup:

Organize the players into two or more teams, with a moderator displaying the cards while each team provides a scripture.
(Or play solo while you reflect on the Word).
Shuffle the cards.

The goal is to recall a scripture that relates to the image on the card.
The verse can be directly related to the image or inspired by the scene or any objects in the image.
Players should recite the whole verse aloud or paraphrase (not recommended) or give a Bible story (for kids).
Set the timer based on your preference.

When a player gets a yellow card, they should select one of the 3 challenges.

Yellow Card Challenge:

A team is required to select one challenge after receiving a yellow card. The challenge is at the back of the yellow card.

Play Challenge

The team answers a random question.

Pray Challenge

The team answers a question on the topic of prayer.

Prey Challenge

The challenge takes a twist where all the players in that team do the challenge together. The team that fails to do so distributes 5 of their points to the other team(s).

Scoring:

Correctly giving a scripture earns 5 points.

Incorrect scriptures result in no points.

The yellow card challenge earns 10 points.

Keep track of scores to add a competitive edge!

The scriptures behind the cards
are just examples and are not limited or tied to the scriptures to be given.

Scripture versions were not included on the card, to encourage research and study at a personal level.
